

The Arizona Society of Glass Beadmakers

The Arizona Society of Glass Beadmakers (ASGB) is a wonderful group of local glass artists and enthusiasts. The group has monthly meetings to share information on upcoming events, shows and workshops; to discuss group business; and members give demonstrations of various bead making techniques. We also challenge members with our monthly bead exchanges, to try new techniques or special themes suggested by our members. Our group has put on our own shows, brought in well-known bead artists for exclusive workshops, and produces an annual calendar to benefit Beads of Courage charity.

The annual dues are only $25.00 and our members run from beginners to experienced artisans and instructors, all willing to share their knowledge and tricks of the trade. Whether you're a hobbyist, full-time artist and business owner, or anything in between, you'll be a welcomed addition to the ASGB.

See our website at www.azsgb.org for more information. Our group and members are proud supporters of the Beads of Courage charity and donate hundreds of beads every year to be distributed through-out the U.S. to participating hospitals. For more information on Beads of Courage go to www.BeadsofCourage.org.

For questions, please email our president, Penny Dickinson at fredandfused@msn.com or to be included on the group emails to try out a meeting before joining.

To join, please fill out the enrollment form below, include a $25.00 check payable to ASGB, and mail to our membership chair:
